

In my opinion, the ban on the use of cell phones on airplanes should not be lifted. With people seated on a plane so close to one another, the possibility of an individual speaking on a cell phone (potentially for the entire flight) is an intrusion on everyone else's space and privacy.